

Accessing and Reviewing Your Academic Advisement Report

What is an Academic Advisement Report?

The Academic Advisement Report (or Degree Audit Report) allows both students and advisor to monitor academic progress toward the completion of a degree. This report shows classes that have been taken and what requirements they satisfy. It also lists a student's major and minor (if applicable), catalog year, number of credits completed, and current GPA, amongst other details.

How do I access my report?

To access your report, you must go to your Student Center page in MyUNLV and click on “My Academics” link:

Class	Schedule
CED 480-1001 LEC (50303)	Room: TBA
PUA 241-1001 LEC (53202)	Room: TBA

Once there, you will need to click on “View my advisement report”:

The screenshot shows the 'My Academics' page. A red arrow points to the 'View my advisement report' link under the 'Academic Requirements' section. The 'My Program' section on the right shows the student's program details: Institution - University of Nevada Las Vegas, Career - Undergraduate, Program - Undergraduate Degree-Seeking, Major - Human Services BS, and Minor - Family Studies MIN.

Your advising report will look much like this. It will begin with university requirements, followed by general education, major courses, and then electives:
